With grateful feelings to railroad men and their families, from whom we have received a liberal patronage, we make publication of a railroad train be head of our advertisement this week. For 1000 years commerce and civilization have walked like hand-maidens, side by side, but latterly the brave man takes his train just ahead, these hand-maidens follow, then comes capital, as shy and timid as a three-year-old girl child, and capital cheapens comforts and luxuries of life.

New Orleans, December 14.—The primary elections for delegates to the Democratic state nominaling convention were held throughout the city to-day. The contest in the Seventh ward caused much ill-feeling, which culminated this afternoon in a terrible rangedy at the polis, corner of Monroe and St. Bernard streets. It appears that a man, name unknown, went up to vote, and was challenged by Capt. Fostier, and his brother, it is stated, irried to get the man from the finally knocked him down or he fell down A shot was then fired, which seemed to be a signal, as the firing immediately became general, the police being powerless against he combatants. When the shooting cased, it was found that Captain Michael J. Fostier, a ptominent Ogden champion, was mortally wounded. He was removed to ais residence, where he expired in a few minutes. He leaves a wfle and three children. Captain Fostier was well known as the commander of a battery in the competitive drills at Nashville, Innianapolis and other points.

Steamboat Burned.

Memphis, December 14.—The steamor Josie Harry, en route from White river to this port, burried this afternoon at Reeves' Landing, fifteen miles below here. Her cargo consisted of six hundred bales of cotton and a quantity of cetton seed, which, together with the boat, was totally destroyed. The fire had its origin on the starboard side, abreast of the boilcers among some cotton bales. Captain Milt Harry at once marshaled his catire force and fought, but without effect, and seeing the danger which threatened the passengers, he ordered the steamer landed, which was done and all escaped. The local burned to the water's edge. She was valued at $30,000, and owned exclusively by Captain Milt. R. Harry. Insurance unknown. The money in the desk was saved, but the safe was lost.
